

My name is Corynne Armstrong. Here is some information about me.

Educational Background: I re-entered the world of learning my oldest daughter started college. Attending college as a mother/daughter duo caught many young men off guard when they discovered that I was her mother! We graduated together from Brigham Young University, at the turn of the century, in April 2000. How many mothers and daughter can make this claim to fame?

Personal Background: I grew up in the small rural community of Manti, Utah. My parents owned and published two newspapers. So, you might say that I have, “ink in my blood.” Today, I am a mother of four children, two girls and you guessed it, two boys. Currently, I am the general chair for Utah Swimming (USA) and a certified NCAA swimming official.

Hobbies/Interests: Travel, travel, and more travel! Camping with my family and sitting around the fire making smores! In addition, I love to read, participate in water sports, bike, hike, family time, and of course I love to cook!

Favorite Children’s Book: Where the Wild Things Are

Favorite Food: Italian

Favorite Treat: Cookies!

Why I became a teacher: I love to learn!
