

My name is Nathaniel Mitchell, but most people call me Nate. This will be my third year teaching. After graduating from BYU (GO Cougars!) with a BS in Neuroscience, I went back to school to get my teaching credentials in Biology Composite teaching with an endorsement in Chemistry. One of the appealing things about becoming a teacher was the opportunity to be a coach. Since I wrestled all through high-school and at UNC-Pembroke I have a great appreciation for the value that organized sports adds to a youth's development. I currently teach Health and Science for 7th and 8th grades. I am also the head coach of Freedom Academy's soccer team which had a 13-1 season finishing second place in the league tournament. I also participated as the Girls Basketball coach, which was an enlightening experience. Our girls' team made it to the Quarterfinals of the league tournament following a year in which they didn't win a single game. Typically I like to play a lot of sports on the weekends and I am on several league teams of various sports. Two of which I get to be on the same team as my gorgeous wife Katy. We were married in August of 2007. She is currently studying Nursing at BYU and will be finished in just one more semester. I love where I am at in life right now and I really enjoy teaching at Freedom Academy.
